The mission of the IOP at NKHS is to help people achieve sustained recovery by acquiring the skills to reduce relapses and increase sobriety through community-based services.

Our services align with the four major dimensions of recovery identified by The Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA):

Health: Overcoming or managing one’s disease or symptoms and making informed, healthy choices that support physical and emotional well-being.

Home: Having a stable and safe place to live.

Purpose: Conduct meaningful daily activities, such as a job, school, volunteerism, family caretaking, or creative endeavors, and the independence, income, and resources to participate in society.

Community: Having relationships and social networks that provide support, friendship, love, and hope.

Intensive Outpatient Program Services
For Substance Use Treatment
An intensive outpatient program (IOP) is a higher level of care where people receive treatment at NKHS 3 days a week and for 3 hours on those days.

Services are community-based and occur at our locations in Derby, Vermont, or St. Johnsbury, Vermont.

IOP treatment allows individuals to continue to work and stay in their homes while participating in the rehab program. Some people use IOP after completing inpatient or residential treatment.

If standard outpatient treatment isn’t enough to help an individual stay in recovery, IOP might be a better option.

IOP helps people understand relapse triggers and develop coping strategies to help them recognize the signs of relapse before they happen.

The program helps people learn from and build on prior recovery attempts. IOP treatment emphasizes increasing supports, connecting to community resources, and developing a strong recovery plan.

Incentives given to those who complete the program within a specific time frame.

The Matrix Model: This approach helps people stay in recovery through several elements:

- Relapse Prevention
- Education
- Social Support
- Individual Counseling
- Urine and Breathalyzer Testing

Cognitive Behavioral Therapy: This structured approach helps people become more aware of how negative thoughts and self-talk shape decisions and behaviors.

Motivational Interviewing: This approach helps people learn the “language of change” and identify their readiness for change.
